

ROOSEVELT'S SON MARRIED

ROUGH RIDERS ELEVENTH HOUR WEDDING GUESTS.

The Colonel Remembered Them Just in Time—Street Crowd Scrambles for Rides and Seats After the Ceremony at the Church and the Reception.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., was married yesterday afternoon to Miss Eleanor Butler Alexander, the daughter of Mrs. Henry Addison Alexander of 43 West Forty-seventh street. The Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, at Fifty-fifth street and Fifth avenue, was more than comfortably filled long before 4 o'clock, the appointed hour, by early arrivals among the 50 invited guests. Fifth avenue for two blocks north and south of the church and along Fifty-fifth street were crowded with people who seemed—at least the women, who formed the majority—divided between the desire to get a glimpse of the bride and eagerness to see Col. Roosevelt. The bridegroom was almost invisible, and few saw him when he arrived at the church an hour before the ceremony. But Theodore, Jr., didn't seem to mind.

At the last minute Col. Roosevelt remembered that the Rough Riders were in town and hadn't been invited. That would never do. In no time at all Kenneth D. Robinson was hurrying around to the Rough Rider headquarters at the Hotel Buckingham to tell "the boys" to jump into their uniforms and come along. There was a scurrying for uniforms and an attempt to round up the missing. Nearly fifty of the men managed to get together, and marching two abreast they reached the church in time to add a military touch to the wedding. All this time the crowd outside the church had been growing. It was well behaved, at least during the arrival of the guests and while the ceremony was being performed. Inspector Smiling Dick Walsh, who had charge of 100 policemen, and Inspector O'Brien, boasting a squad of mounted men, had no difficulty in keeping the way clear for the flow of automobiles and carriages to the entrances to the church on Fifth avenue and Fifty-fifth street.

At 3:40 o'clock the ripple of a cheer and a sound of handclapping up the avenue announced that Col. Roosevelt was coming. He drove up to one of the Fifth avenue entrances in an automobile, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and Archie and Quentin, the two younger Roosevelt boys. The chauffeur overtook his mark and the crowd applauded and the cameras clicked while the driver backed into the station. Quentin, grinning with delight, acted as lookout and pilot. Col. Roosevelt raised his hat to the crowd and then turned to greet Inspector O'Brien, who stood at the door of the automobile.

"How are you, Steve?" said the Colonel as he pumped the policeman's hand. "I'm mighty glad to see you, inspector." Then he passed on into the church and the bride stepped back to watch for the bride. Presently the Rough Riders came marching up from the Buckingham. It was almost 4 o'clock when the mounted police galloped up and down to shut off traffic on the avenue and clear the way for Miss Alexander's automobile, which came through East Fifty-fifth street and drew up at the church door at that side. The bride hid her face in a great bunch of lilies of the valley when her machine was blocked just before reaching the church door. The photographers seized the chance for a picture. Then she lowered the bouquet and smiled out quite frankly at the people.

Inside the church was a garden of flowers. Florida had been at work since the evening before. Roses garlanded the columns on either side and at each window base roses were massed in ferns. The aisles were walked with roses and lilies of the valley. Each pew was outlined in roses backed by delicate ferns. The pulpit was carpeted with roses and the organ loft was hidden by great branches of the pink rambler rose upon a background of palms, concealing Nippon Frank's orchestra of fifty pieces.

The ushers were George Emlen Roosevelt and Monroe Douglas Robinson, cousins of the bridegroom; John W. Cutler, Eliot Cutler, E. Morgan Gilbert, Hamilton Eliot, Jr., Francis Roche, Fulton Cutting and Grafton Chapman. While they were seating the guests the orchestra played selections from "Tannhäuser," "Lohengrin" and "Die Walküre," and numbers by Dvorak, Chappertier, Massenet, Tschakovsky and Saint-Saëns. Schumann's "Evening Song" was played during the service.

Miss Alexander entered the church in the orchestra, accompanied by the organ, began the "Lohengrin" wedding march. Mrs. Alexander walked up the aisle with her mother and was met at the chancel steps by the bridegroom, who was accompanied by his brother Kermit as best man.

The bride was dressed in white satin, the bodice trimmed with rare Valenciennes lace. The voluminous tulle veil was caught at the collar with a coronet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white orchids and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Alexander wore a pale yellow chiffon gown with a Louis XV. train of blue and gold brocade. She wore a large hat trimmed with a single ostrich plume.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Snowden A. Fahnestock—she was formerly Miss Elizabeth Berton and Miss Alexander was her maid of honor at the wedding a few weeks ago—preceded Mrs. Alexander. She wore her bridal gown and carried a bouquet of forget me nots.

OUR JUDGES CRITICIZED.

Hughes of New Jersey Says They Are Afflicted With the Hookworm.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The administration of justice by the Supreme Court Judges in the city of New York was severely criticized in a speech in the House to-night by Representative Hughes of New Jersey. While Mr. Hughes spoke facetiously, his reflections on the Justices in New York were such as to provoke replies from Representative O'Connell of Manhattan and Representative Fitzgerald of Brooklyn. Mr. Hughes said in substance that as soon as a man became a Justice in New York he immediately became afflicted with the hookworm, the hook worm or some other "disease" that made him indisposed to labor. As a result, Mr. Hughes declared, cases in New York courts were delayed indefinitely.

In reply Messrs. Fitzgerald and O'Connell defended the New York judiciary, declaring that the Justices were overworked, that they were as efficient as Judges anywhere else in the country and that the delays complained of were due solely to the great volume of business put on them.

The row over New York justice was kicked up by a resolution brought forward by Representative Goldfogle of New York. This resolution, which was passed, authorized the House Committee on Immigration to make an investigation in the coming recess into conditions which have resulted in the failure of 250,000 aliens in New York to become naturalized. It is contended that expeditious naturalization in New York is impossible so long as the courts there are overcrowded with business as at present.

Representative Mason of Arkansas got into the debate. He stirred up trouble when he suggested that if the sixteen able-bodied members from Greater New York "got on the job" in the summer they could evolve a remedy for the situation and thus save the Government the $2,500 which the Goldfogle resolution provided should be made available for the proposed inquiry. "Let us keep this $2,500 in the treasury of the people!" shouted Mr. Mason.

"The House, however, by a substantial majority, decided to spend the $2,500."

DROPS WYMAN WILL CONTEST.

Attorney for Mrs. Mary S. Cutler of New York Withdraws Appearance.

ROCHESTER, June 20.—William A. Odlin of this city, counsel for Mrs. Mary S. Cutler of New York and Andover, contestant of the will of Isaac C. Wyman of Salem, who left practically all his estate, valued at several million dollars, to Princeton, withdrew his appearance in the Probate Court at Salem to-day.

The withdrawal is taken as indicating that the contest has been given up. Mr. Odlin said to-day he did not care to give his reason for withdrawing from the case, but he did not understand that any other counsel was to represent Mrs. Cutler. Mr. Odlin denied the report from Salem that he had telephoned to the court that an investigation showed that there was no ground for the contest.

A hearing had been assigned for Wednesday, and the contestants have said that they would not be ready, and counsel for the will notified them that any motions for a continuance must be made to-day. Counsel for the will say there has been no compromise or agreement of compromise made. This leaves the only contestants, the Judges, contesting, who will be heard Wednesday.

SPOLIATEE RELEASED.

Russian Smuggler on Danger of Chance Acquaintances—Where's Chariton?

SPECIAL CABLE DISPATCH TO THE SUN. COMO, June 20.—The Russian Spoliatoff, who was arrested in connection with the murder of Mrs. Porter Charlton, was released from custody to-day. After leaving the jail he said:

"I have been in prison ten days, which was a new experience for me. Before the murder I saw the Charltons perhaps a dozen times in all. She was very pretty and he very young to manage such a woman. They both drank heavily."

Then he added thoughtfully: "One should be careful about making acquaintances."

BOOKWORM IN PHILADELPHIA.

First Case Ever Found There—A Cure Already Half Accomplished.

PHILADELPHIA, June 20.—Philadelphia has a genuine case of bookworm disease, the first ever seen in this city. Charles Keel, 35 years old, is the victim. On June 18 he was taken to the Germantown Hospital.

Keel is a man of medium height, slightly built and has a pasty complexion. His face has an anxious and somewhat stupid expression and his eyes present the typical pallor of anemia. When he was received at the hospital he had to be carried, but is now able to walk around.

The treatment he is getting is very simple. When first admitted to the hospital he was given nothing to eat for twenty-four hours and a big dose of salts was administered. Since then he has been kept on a special diet and is being treated with thymol.

The hospital physicians express the belief that a cure in Keel's case will soon be effected.

Mrs. Field's $1,400,000 Estate.

WRITS PLAIN, June 20.—Final judgment was entered in the Westchester County Clerk's office to-day on the accounts of William Jay as executor of the estate of Mary Elizabeth Field under certain trusts created by Mrs. Field in her will. The total value of the estate is $1,400,000, out of which there are three trusts to be paid. For the benefit of Prince Carlo Francesco, a grandson, there is $165,000, for Prince Marcantonio, there is $165,000, and for Prince Duroli, a granddaughter, $127,500. Each of the three also receive $127,500 in addition to the above amount. The estate consisted of realty in New York city and in the States of Nevada and Arkansas, and there are bonds, mortgages and railroad stocks. A large number of the beneficiaries are members of the well known Jay and Schiffelin families. The beneficiaries above named are now residents of Italy.

TAFT WINNING, HE THINKS

PLEASED AT HIS SUCCESS IN SECURING LEGISLATION.

But He Doesn't Intend to Stop—Has Hopes of Getting Through a Campaign Publicity Bill and a Bill Creating an Appalachian Forest Reserve.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The success which the Taft Administration has attained in the last week or so in pushing important measures through Congress and in bringing the solid Republican vote in behind them is being reflected in reports which are coming to Washington from all parts of the country of the growth of the President's popularity.

Congressmen from the West and middle West, sections that only a few weeks ago were bitter in their criticism of the Taft Administration, have been receiving letters and telegrams which indicate that the passage of the railroad bill and other Administration measures has done much to rehabilitate the President's standing. The growing impression that Col. Roosevelt is satisfied with the Taft Administration and will come out strongly in support of it also is helping to clear the situation in the West, and President Taft's friends here are in better spirits now than they have been at any time this session. They believe that when the present Congress finishes its work and lays before the country an impressive list of bills passed Mr. Taft's hard earned victory will be generally recognized.

The President himself is greatly pleased with the way Congress has responded to his requests and it is apparent that he is sharing the belief of his friends that there are brighter days ahead for his Administration. The President already has got the railroad bill and the standard bill through Congress and it is practically certain that his postal savings bank bill and his conservation bill will be added to the list within a day or two.

These bills in themselves make a big showing, but the President does not intend to stop with them. He has strong hopes of getting a campaign publicity bill through before Congress adjourns and also a bill creating an Appalachian forest reserve. He is however directing his efforts chiefly to the campaign publicity bill and to the few minor details that remain in regard to the conservation and postal savings bank bills. A campaign publicity bill he already passed the House and it is planned now to take it up in the Senate as soon as the two remaining Administration measures are out of the way. The President has on several occasions spoken in favor of this legislation.

Preparations are going forward now for the adjournment of Congress not later than Saturday. To-morrow the last of the general appropriation bills, the general deficiency bill, will be passed by the Senate and sent to conference. The House has just about completed its consideration of the appropriation bills. It is probable that if both houses pulled together they might get through before Saturday, but it is likely that no attempt will be made to rush things for a getaway. The fall campaign is coming on and both Senators and Representatives are anxious to make a showing on legislation of local importance in their districts. For this reason considerable time is likely to be consumed in disposing of the heavy calendar.

Vice-President Sherman, who was at the White House to-day, expressed the opinion that Congress will adjourn by the end of the week. If Congress gives up the ghost on Saturday the President himself probably will not leave Washington until the latter part of next week. It had been his intention to leave Washington for Beverly on the day after Congress adjourns. There have, however, been many requests from Congressmen for audiences with the President and Mr. Taft has decided to stay over for a few days after the legislative end of the Government quits working.

ABANDONED BARK WON'T SINK.

Navigating Herself Through Atlantic Storms With a Reefed Mainmast.

The stanch Norwegian bark Crown, which sailed from Nova Scotia with a cargo of lumber on December 11 last year for Bahia Blanca, off the eastern coast of Argentina, and was abandoned waterlogged in January, was sighted on Friday about 740 miles southwest of Bermuda by the Lamport & Holt liner Titian, and yesterday from Brazilian ports. Her master and bowman and jibboom were standing and a reefed upper mainmast was set, although she doubtless has zigzagged through many storms in the last five months. She looked so much like a vessel under command that Capt. Carry sent a boat's crew to her. They found no one aboard and returned to the liner. She may be heard from later near enough to an American port to inspire the derisive destroyer and salvager to see whether or not she is worth towing into harbor.

MAYOR LED TO JAIL DOORS.

Montana Justice Said He Must Be "Kept There Until I Order His Release."

HELENA, Mon., June 20.—City officials were thrown into consternation to-day when Judge Clements in the District Court ordered Mayor Frank J. Edwards of Helena committed to jail and "kept there until I order his release."

This action was taken because of the failure of the Mayor to observe an order of the Court respecting the payment of a certain police official whom the Mayor and Council removed and for which they were fined under a contempt charge. While the Council at its last meeting ordered the payment of the salary of the Sheriff, but before the jail doors were reached the Court's orders were obeyed and no actual commitment followed.

President-Elect of Brazil to Visit U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Marshall Hermes R. de Fozzera, President-elect of Brazil, who has been witnessing the army maneuvers in Germany, will sail for the United States on July 20 on the steamer Montezuma. He will spend one month in this country. He will be inaugurated on November 15.

NO BI-COLORED DANCE.

East Orange High School Function Officially Called Off.

EAST ORANGE, N. J., June 20.—The problem of the color line in so far as it applied to the dance of the seniors of the East Orange High School was solved to-day by the cancellation of the dance, which was to have been held on Friday night at the Woman's Club in Orange. The club-house authorities were notified of the decision of the graduates this afternoon and a meeting was held of the students to-night to decide on further plans. What was done was not revealed.

The decision was made to avoid any unpleasant scene in case the father of Isabel and Irene Vandervall, colored members of the graduating class, should appear and demand admittance for his daughters. Isabel has been a member of the class throughout its course and a ticket to the dance finally found its way to her. Irene joined the class from the class of last year and she received no ticket. The girls and their father insisted that a ticket should have been given to Irene.

It was rumored to-night that the cancellation of the date was only a ruse to deceive the Misses Vandervall. That the dance will be held and that the colored girls will be designedly forgotten when the new invitations are sent out is the belief of many who are not admitted to the inner councils of the class. The Vandervall girls had nothing to say on the matter when it was put before them.

The insistence of the girls on their right to attend the dance in spite of the unwillingness of the young social lights of the class to let them in caused more than a little stir in the city last week. The tickets were all distributed on Monday with the exception of those for the Vandervalls.

The high school pupils say that they would have made no objection to the Vandervall girls had they not made it known that they intended to exercise their full rights and bring escorts of their own race.

SERENO E. PAYNE SHOCKED.

Standard Paid Had Shouted "Tear Down Tariff Wall That Divides U. S. From Mexico."

WASHINGTON, N. J., June 20.—Representative Sereno E. Payne of New York was shocked to-day when he heard some one about in debate "Tear down the tariff wall that divides us from Mexico, and better relations will at once be established between the two republics."

Mr. Payne arose, his brow contracted into a deep frown. He evidently intended to protect the aforesaid wall no matter who should attempt to scale it or tear it down. Mr. Payne was under the impression that the sacrifice had been committed by a member on the Democratic side of the House. When he discovered that it was uttered by a Republican he did not attempt to conceal his amazement. Representative Mann of Illinois was the member who demanded that the tariff wall between Mexico be razed, and when Mr. Payne saw it was one of his own standard friends he shook his head mournfully in dissent and sat down.

The House had up for consideration a resolution reported by the Committee on Foreign Affairs providing for the creation of a commission to represent this Government at the centennial celebration of Mexico held in Mexico city in September. Representative Foster of Vermont called up this measure, and the other members urged that it was the duty of this Government to be represented at Mexico city on the occasion named. Closer relations would result, it was argued.

Mr. Mann charged that the resolution provided for nothing more than a junket. He spoke disparagingly of Congress junkets and Congress "junketeers." Mr. Payne and nearly everybody else voted for the resolution. The commission created will be composed of three Senators, three Representatives and three others to be named by the President.

CAUGHT SMUGGLING JEWELRY.

Custom House Apparently Knew Just What Pollack Had About Him.

Isaac Pollack, a suit and cloak dealer of West Thirty-third street, was a cabin passenger by the Kaiserin August Victoria and had in his trunk a quantity of imported stuff that seemed to Inspector George W. Harnisch, who examined it, to be more valuable than Pollack declared it to be. It was sent to the public stores for valuation. Pollack was asked if he had any jewelry on his person that he would like to declare, and he said he had none. Acting Deputy Surveyor O'Connor thought otherwise, and a search revealed about $200 worth of articles, including two gold mesh bags studded with rubies, emeralds and diamonds; three gold watches, three neck chains, a gold bracelet in which is set a small gem studded watch and a pendant set with three diamonds surrounded by rubies.

The pendant was the last piece of jewelry found. Pollack had it concealed in a secret part of a purse. He opened the purse and showed apparently all the inside of it, turning out a lot of small change. Mr. O'Connor asked him if that was all that he had in the purse, and he said it was. Then O'Connor took the purse from Pollack and found the pendant.

On his promise to appear yesterday morning before Gen. Henry, Surveyor of the Port, Pollack was permitted to go, leaving his baggage and smuggled jewelry behind. He did not get to the Custom House until yesterday afternoon. Then he was sent before United States Commissioner Ross in Hoboken, who held him in $1,000 bail for examination on Friday.

Pollack was accompanied from Europe by his chief clerk. A deputy surveyor went to the clerk's home yesterday and persuaded him to declare $750 worth of jewelry and pay the duty on it.

Roosevelt Wedding Guest Loses Chauffeur.

Edward Livingston Smith of Woodmere, L. I., who came to town yesterday for the Roosevelt-Alexander marriage, went to the Tenderloin police station at 10 o'clock last night and asked the police if Sam Solaky, his chauffeur, had been arrested anywhere. The police telephoned around to different stations but could find no trace of the driver. Mr. Smith said his man may have misunderstood and gone to some other place.

JAILING OPPONENTS OF DIAZ

MAILED FIST PRELIMINARIES TO MEXICAN ELECTION.

Officials Circulating Stories of Revolt, Hurking Meetings and Seizing Some Arms—Wholesale Arrests About Cananea—Demands of Young Veterans.

EL PASO, June 20.—Following the arrest of sixty-five men and the capture of a hundred rifles at Cananea last Thursday Col. Emilio Kosterlitzky and his rurales arrested four men on Sunday near Villa Verde, thirty miles from Cananea, who were transporting on burros to Cananea 4,000 rounds of ammunition, several rifles and two pistols. This information comes from Del Rio and Cananea, Mexico, and Naco, Arizona.

It developed here to-day that two anti-Diaz meetings were held in this city on Sunday, one on South Station street and one in East El Paso and that others were held in other Texas border towns. Mexican officials in Ciudad Juarez, opposite El Paso, made these statements. They also said they understood that ammunition has been bought up here, as in Arizona, where the supply of arms and ammunition in stores is completely exhausted. But El Paso merchants say there have been no heavy sales of arms here.

The town of Cananea is now virtually under martial law. The authorities have taken measures to prevent meetings that might in any way foment trouble. The police have orders to disperse any gathering of fifty or more persons and a house to house search has revealed the hiding place of many rifles and much ammunition.

Cananea is now guarded by two companies of the Twenty-seventh Infantry and a company of rurales under command of Col. Emilio Kosterlitzky is stationed at three important points guarding the entrances to the city. In addition to these contingents are under arms to act as may be necessary. Gen. Torres has assured the authorities that the moment the necessity arises he will send 400 men by special train.

Many men have been detained by the police for "creating a disturbance" by causing public gatherings and at least twelve men have been removed to Hermosillo and Cananea until after the elections. The trouble has arisen among the younger element, who are strong in their demand for political liberty, free speech and "the right to vote." The idol of many at this time is Senor Madero, who has been named as their candidate for President and who by reason of his having caused crowds to form has been placed in jail at Monterey until the election is over.

This act seems to be the one that most infuriates the young bloods. Their programme as they state it is as follows: "On election day, the 26th, we intend to vote to the polls and demand the right to vote, and if we are denied our constitutional rights we will fight if necessary."

In one raid at Chivirita, near Cananea, forty-five rifles, all 30-30, were taken with much ammunition. In one house in Buena Vista twelve rifles and 500 rounds of ammunition were found.

Many proscribed meetings in Sonora villages have been raided and the leaders have been ordered to leave and without hesitation they have left. Chief of Police Rafael Lopez has resigned and his whereabouts are unknown. It is said he left in response to warnings he had received that his fate would be the same as that of the President and the Chief of Police of Culiacan, who were recently killed.

The official residence of Gen. Luis Torres in Cananea has been opened and is being prepared for occupancy, evidently in anticipation of his early arrival.

EVERYBODY MAY FLY NOW.

Aero Club Prohibition Is Lifted Because Wright Injunction Is No More.

The governors of the Aero Club of America announced yesterday that in view of the fact that the courts had vacated the temporary injunction secured by the Wright Company against Glenn H. Curtiss the club felt it would not be justified in withholding its licenses for meets pending the final decision on the Wright claims.

A resolution was passed yesterday inviting the American Aeronautical Association to hold its convention to-morrow in the rooms of the Aero Club. The Aeronautical Association opposed the agreement with the Wright Company and formed an independent organization. The Aeronautical Federation of America, a body that sprang into existence through the efforts of the Aeronautical Society, a rival of the Aero Club, has also invited the American Aeronautical Association to form an alliance and has announced that a joint convention will be held at the Hotel Astor to-morrow.

The Aero Club proposes to form an organization to be known as the National Council of Aero Clubs. Its success will depend largely upon whether it receives the cooperation of the American Aeronautical Association.

BERLIN'S CENSOR HERE.

His Work Is Trying and He Is Going to Leave to Recuperate.

Dr. Posner, dramatic and operatic censor at Berlin, was a passenger by the North German Lloyd liner Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm, in last evening from Bremen. He was too ill to leave his cabin. His wife, who was Miss Ryder of Iowa, said he was here for recuperation, his nerves having given way under the strain of his work. He is going with her to her father's home in Iowa. She said the job of censor in Berlin was a trying one. French plays were expurgated freely before they were put on in Germany, and no plays as indecent as some that were produced in New York would be allowed in Berlin.

MRS. BUTTERFIELD INJURED.

Widow of Gen. Butterfield Falls Down Stairs at Her Summer Home.

COLD SPRING, N. Y., June 20.—Mrs. Butterfield, widow of Gen. Daniel Butterfield, whose New York residence is at 616 Fifth avenue, met with an accident last evening at Cragside, her summer home in this village, that will confine her to her room for some time to come. Mrs. Butterfield was descending the stairway when her foot caught in her dress and she fell heavily to the bottom landing. She was unconscious when picked up and remained so until the arrival of Dr. John A. Holland, who upon examination found that she had broken her right leg near the hip. Specialists were immediately summoned from New York. The bone was set, but owing to the advanced age of Mrs. Butterfield it is a question whether the operation will prove successful.

Mrs. Butterfield had planned to entertain on an extensive scale this summer. Among her guests was to have been Mrs. Russell Sage for several weeks, but owing to the accident all social engagements have been cancelled.

LAST CALLS FROM JERSEY.

One J. P. Offers a Case of Wine to Couple He Officially for Before He Quits.

PATERSON, N. J., June 20.—On the door of the office of Justice of the Peace Abe Cohen is posted the following notice: TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: I do not approve of the new marriage law. All I want is to marry one couple before the law goes into effect and I will quit the bucking job. There's a case of wine for the couple that accepts this offer.

ASB. CORNEX, J. P. "Well," Squire Cohen explained when asked about the notice, "I call that new marriage law a farce. It's hard on the people getting married to answer a lot of fool questions and it's hard on the Justice, who must take up a whole lot of time filling out blanks. For my part there will be no weddings after July 1, and I think New Jersey couples will be inclined to go to some other State. To the first couple that comes along before July 1 I will give a case of wine, and that will be my last marriage, at least until the law passed by the last Legislature is changed."

A STRAW.

Tremendous Drop in British Radical Vote in Hartlepool By-Election.

SPECIAL CABLE DISPATCH TO THE SUN. LONDON, June 20.—In the by-election at Hartlepool to-day the Radical candidate was elected by a majority of 186, compared with 777 last January.

HOT SPELL IN WASHINGTON.

Fans Working in Congress—Lemonade in the Senate, Ice Water in the House.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—At the Capitol to-day there were many reminders that the first real torrid spell of the summer was at hand. Palm leaf fans were working in both the Senate and the House and many statesmen were arrayed in seersucker coats and other hot weather apparel. Great bucketsful of lemonade were in evidence in the Senate cloak rooms, but over in the House members contented themselves with plain ice water. House members have always looked with virtuous indignation at the proposition of spending a few dollars from their contingent fund for lemonade.

The withering weather, however, had no appreciable effect upon the flow of oratory, which ran on all day under full head in both the House and Senate. Many a collar was wilted. The House for good measure had a night session.

ITALY TO GUARD EMIGRANTS.

Not Only Girls But Workmen to Be Under Her Official Eye in America.

SPECIAL CABLE DISPATCH TO THE SUN. ROME, June 20.—Speaking in the Chamber of Deputies to-day the Marquis di San Giuliano, Minister of Foreign Affairs, advocated the passage of the bill regulating emigration. Such regulation, he said, had become a necessity.

It was the intent of the bill if it became a law not only to protect emigrants and provide them with work but to exercise a proper surveillance over ports of departure. This was aimed especially at the sending out of girls for illicit purposes. Speaking of the United States, he said that it was impossible for the Government to interfere to stop the high rates of freight to that country, but the Government was determined to improve the condition of the emigrants destined there. It had been decided to increase the number of consulates so as to look out for the interests of the workmen.
